

This document contains a collection of random text fragments that mix casual conversation, specific street addresses, and geographic coordinates in both decimal and degrees/minutes formats.

1. Yesterday, while walking through the city, I passed by 221B Baker Street, London, and remembered a story connected to 51.5237° N, -0.1586° W.
2. I once had lunch at an old place near Rue de Rivoli 210, Paris, but my friend insisted it felt closer to 48°51'23" N, 2°21'08" E.
3. Someone mentioned their grandmother's home at Oak Avenue 12, without even recalling which city it belonged to, yet they kept the coordinates 34.0522, -118.2437 in memory.
4. On a trip north, we stopped near Bahnhofstrasse 67, Zürich, which someone marked in their notes as 47°22'12" N, 8°32'45" E.
5. The best bookstore I ever visited was at 14 Elm Street, though I never noted the city. A friend wrote down the spot as 40.7128, -74.0060.
6. Walking past Alexanderplatz 1, I thought of a trip logged as 52.5219° N, 13.4132° E.
7. My cousin once lived on Maple Road 55; no country was mentioned, but coordinates showed 45.4642, 9.1900.
8. At Piazza San Marco 76, Venice, the GPS gave 45°26'01" N, 12°20'09" E.
9. I recall stopping by 500 Fifth Avenue, New York, just before heading to 40.7532, -73.9822.
10. That small café near Carrer de Mallorca 401 felt like home, located at 41°24'12" N, 2°09'12" E.
11. I once received a letter with only the address: Lindenstrasse 24. Coordinates helped: 50.1109, 8.6821.
12. A local farmer gave directions near Via Roma 101, without telling the town, but marked 41.9028° N, 12.4964° E.
13. My old teacher lived at High Street 88, later noted as 51°30'26" N, 0°07'39" W.
14. At Damrak 12, Amsterdam, we noted the place as 52.3740, 4.8940.
15. I once passed by Avenida de Mayo 600, Buenos Aires, logged at 34°36'30" S, 58°22'30" W.
16. My best memory is tied to a cottage near Green Lane 3; nobody knows where, except GPS: 37.7749, -122.4194.
17. Crossing the square at Puerta del Sol, I recalled 40°25'08" N, 3°42'21" W.
18. A hidden shop sat quietly at 19 Main Street; again, no city was listed, only 35.6895, 139.6917.
19. Stopping near Karl Johans gate 22, Oslo, gave us the coordinates 59.9139° N, 10.7522° E.
20. Once I visited a library at Broadway 150, noted also as 40.7127, -74.0059.
21. My uncle recalled a family house at Rue Saint-Honoré 145, linked to 48°52'05" N, 2°20'15" E.
22. The little bakery near Markt 7 was unforgettable, coordinates said 51.2277, 6.7735.
23. At Tower Bridge Road 25, I saw the landmark also known as 51.5055° N, -0.0754° W.
24. Crossing Plaza Mayor 10, the GPS read 40.4154, -3.7074.
25. He noted his summer in Koningsstraat 30, marked by 52°22'12" N, 4°53'45" E.
26. Someone left me a note to meet at 78 Church Street, but forgot the city; coordinates said 41.3851, 2.1734.
27. On a cold day, I stood at Nevsky Prospekt 56, where the map showed 59.9343° N, 30.3351° E.
28. That art gallery was at West Street 90, logged as 34°03'08" S, 18°25'26" E.
29. Passing by Grafton Street 12, I remembered 53.3421, -6.2597.

30. My friend's house at Avenida Paulista 1578 was set at 23°33'11" S, 46°38'20" W.
31. We met at the corner of Grand Rue 8, coordinates: 46.2044, 6.1432.
32. Someone described a view from Ocean Drive 200, also known as 25.7907° N, 80.1300° W.
33. That hotel near Rue Neuve 102 stood at 50°50'52" N, 4°21'07" E.
34. At Damstraat 5, we found a small museum, logged at 52.3728, 4.8936.
35. Walking across Plaza Catalunya 3, Barcelona, I kept 41.3870° N, 2.1701° E.
36. The apartment once stood at Friedrichstrasse 150, Berlin, marked as 52.5075, 13.3904.
37. He always talked about Via Garibaldi 23, coordinates: 44°24'48" N, 8°55'58" E.
38. At George Street 42, Sydney, I marked it as 33.8688° S, 151.2093° E.

Street Address	City	Country	Coordinates
221B Baker Street	London	UK	51.5237° N, -0.1586° W
Rue de Rivoli 210	Paris	France	48°51'23" N, 2°21'08" E
Stationsplein 33	Amsterdam	Netherlands	52°22'23" N, 4°53'32" E
Main Street 123	Springfield	USA	39.7817, -89.6501
Carrer de Mallorca 401	Barcelona	Spain	41°24'12" N, 2°09'12" E